REQUIREMENTS

The Engelsberg Summer School in Classical Architecture is an intensive course centred on design projects which develop the skills of observation, design, critical thinking and representation, emphasizing the expression of design ideas through hand-drawing.

1) LETTER OF INTENT

The letter of intent should be no longer than one page, and should express your interest in participating in the Engelsberg Summer School in Classical Architecture, as well as your background, your expectations for the course and your future prospects. Please send a PDF version of the letter with the rest of your application.

2) EXAMPLE OF WORK

Although no previous architectural education is required for this course, students should be able to demonstrate some hand-drawing abilities, whether related to architecture, art, painting or other interests. Please send with your application up to five hand drawings, signed, dated and clearly referenced.

TRAVEL INSURANCE COVERAGE AND HEALTH

All students are required to have appropriate travel insurance coverage. Students are expected to be in good health on arrival sufficient to attend the course without disruption or absence. If a student requires routine medication, they must bring a supply which will last for the entire program.

VISA AND PASSPORT ETC.

Non-Swedish students must have a valid passport during their entire stay in Sweden. To the extent required, the student must obtain visa and any other permits required to visit Sweden. The student is advised to contact the relevant Swedish embassy to get information about applicable requirements.

PAYMENT

The price for the summer school is 1500 Euros and the sum covers costs for tuition, accommodation, meals, and excursions for all 28 days of the course. The payment should be sent to our account before 1st June 2018. Information about how to pay will be sent out after registration. The fee is non-refundable and it is suggested that insurance is obtained for cancellation.

All necessary equipment will be provided but if students wish to bring their own preferred references or drafting and drawing equipment they may.

A limited number partial bursaries are available on application subject to suitability for the course and clear evidence of demonstrable hardship. Please apply to Lauren Banks with appropriate evidence, references and a statement. An interview may be requested. The decision to award bursaries will be final.
